FOREWORD

IN THE LIFE of a college a year is a tiny unit, but each unit has its significance. So it is that the Class of 1958 asks you to take time out and remember . . .

DEDICATION

We, the class of 1958, in grateful appreciation, dedicate our yearbook to those most worthy of that honor—

OUR PARENTS

The total of what we are or what we ever hope to be we owe to these benefactors.

Tender care through the years of our childhood was their first task. Patient answers to the countless questions of youth was their second. Teaching us the knowledge of life's greatest good—truth to and love of our God, our Country, and faith in Ourselves—was their greatest task.

Today, as young men and women, we realize that their love, patience, and self-sacrifice were necessary to our well being, but, more important, that they formed the pathway upon which we now walk into our new opportunities. We dare not forget them now!

Thus it is fitting and proper that we, the class of "58", make this dedication.

PARENTS, WE SALUTE YOU!

L. V. C.

Yesterday Today Tomorrow

In the year 1866, when President Thomas Ries Vickroy began teaching classes in the old Annville Academy, he also wound the springs of a clock, that clock whose dial is the symbol of the passing scene at Lebanon Valley College.

One year later the college was chartered by the state of Pennsylvania under its present name, Lebanon Valley College, and construction was begun on its first building. A new institution of higher learning was ushered into the world, but as is the case with all infants, it had to be nurtured and properly cared for.

To this end, there came to Lebanon Valley College a group of devoted professors and educators who gave the school a firm foothold in the direction of its avowed interest—teaching young men and young women to become better Christians and better citizens.

Countless revolutions of the hands and a few decades later found the face of the clock changed even more. Many new buildings such as Engle Hall, Carnegie Library, North Hall and Men's Dorm now dotted the campus.

Along with the rise of its physical plant, the administration constantly tried to secure the best available professors for its faculty. This policy greatly enhanced the quality of education that was being afforded to the students. It is a policy for which we, as students might well be grateful.

Today we are involved in another great face lifting of the clock symbolizing the growth of our college. The echo of carpenters' hammers, concrete mixers, and pneumatic drills from the walls of the new Women's Dormitory were lost in the din of the new library rising from the dust.

It appears that the time piece shows no signs of stopping or even slowing down. Through the years, as the school grows in both academic and physical stature, we will come to look with pride at the ever-changing face of that symbol, the clock that represents all that Lebanon Valley College is, was, or ever will be.

THE HUB OF THE CONSERV

TIME OUT

Odd Moments

President Miller and Mr. Moyer happily discuss the progress of the new Women's Dorm at the faculty tea.

Mr. Rovers surveys the graduating class of 1956.

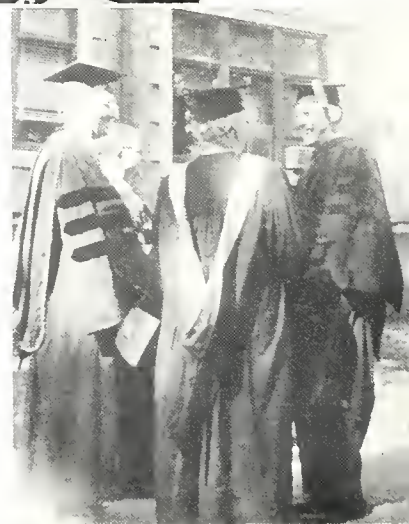

Coach McCracken proudly announces our victory over Wilkes-Barre.

"All set for that recital, Mr. Fairlamb?"

Looking dignified in cap and gown, President Miller chats with a few faculty members before the first chapel service of the fall term.

In Memoriam

JOHN RAY McCULLOUGH

As the Junior Class moves ahead, we must pause to reflect on the memory of John, one of our classmates. Although John was at Lebanon Valley for just a short time, he is not forgotten. All of us who knew him will remember him for his quiet and likeable manner. His spirit remains with us, in everything that we do.

"a time for music"

MISS MARY E. GILLESPIE

In 1930 there was installed at Lebanon Valley College a new chairman of the Department of Music, Miss Mary Gillespie. She came to L.V.C. with a fine record as school music supervisor in Scottsburg, Indiana, and Braddock, Pennsylvania, and as head of the music department of the University of Delaware.

Since then Miss Gillespie has served as our Dean of Women from 1937 to 1948. The degree of Doctor of Music was awarded to her by Lebanon Valley College in 1954. This was the first honorary degree granted by the college to one of its own faculty members in more than a decade. But more important than these is the influence Miss Gillespie has had upon innumerable students. She has imbued them with her love of people, especially children, and has inspired them by her enthusiasm for teaching.

Although Miss Gillespie retired from her duties as chairman of the Music Department this year she will remain on our faculty just as she will always remain in the hearts of the students.

Symphony Orchestra

There is a time for concerts and under the direction of Mr. Lanese the symphony orchestra presents two each year. The first of these was on December 6 when the program included Joan Conway playing Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 20 in D Minor. The spring concert featured Robert Mann, first violinist of the Juilliard String Quartet, playing Beethoven's Violin Concerto. Also performed during the year were symphonies by Mozart and Mendelssohn and Overture for Orchestra by Mr. Lanese.

THREE FIFTY-FIVE

Anytime is a good time to sing but one of the best is with the chorus. At the beginning of the year Faure's Requiem was studied and in December the Christmas Oratorio by Saint-Saens was performed with student soloists. In the Spring Music Festival the whole chorus presented Bach's cantata Hold In Affection Jesus Christ while the men sang Thompsons' The Testament of Freedom and the women performed Credo, Canzoni, and Fugue by Karg-Elert.

Once a year it's time for the girls to take over and this year it occurred on March 19 at the girls' band concert. Under the direction of Dr. Thurmond the forty-five girls performed Iphegenia in Aulos and other selections.

A usual time for shining up instruments is just before a performance by the brass ensemble. This select group of instrumentalists, also directed by Dr. Thurmond performed with the concert band in the Spring Music Festival.

Woodwind Festival Soloists

Of course there has to be a time for the woodwinds to shine and so they did on May 8, 1956, when instead of the usual spring concert by the symphony orchestra, there was presented A Program of Music for Solo Woodwinds and Symphony Orchestra. All the soloists were students of Frank Staehow, professor of theory and woodwinds. They were Harold Weitzel, who played the Rhapsodie for Clarinet and Orchestra by Debussy, Louise Loeper, who presented Kennan's Night Soliloquy for Flute and Strings, Patricia Lutz, who performed the Concerto in One Movement for E flat Alto Saxophone and Strings by Glazunov, Thomas Silliman whose solos were Cimarosa's Concerto for Oboe and Strings and The Winter's Past by Barlow, Renato Perez, who performed Mozart's Concerto for Bassoon, and Dorothy Grabau, who played the Poeme for Flute and Orchestra by Griffes. This was the first time the conservatory attempted a program of this type.

String Ensembles

When this group meets it is time to rosin bows. Although it plays mostly for the enjoyment and experience of the members, the ensemble performed in several recitals throughout the year. The major worked studied was the String Quintet in C (with Two Celli) by Schubert.

A. Kierstead, C. Schairer, E. Berger,
E. Henderson, K. Moyer.

R. McBride, T. Silliman, J. Tyson, N. Nickell, W. Workinger.

Woodwind Ensemble

Tune-up time is an important part of every rehearsal and performance, and these two ensembles perform probably more often than any other ones in the conservatory. The woodwind quintet appeared on television and both groups played in many recitals and for other occasions on and off campus. During the first semester vacation the ensembles accompanied Mr. Stachow to Everett where they performed for the Central Western District Band Directors in a woodwind demonstration.

It was curtain time at 8:15 on the evenings of April 20 and 21, 1956, and Engle Hall became the scene of a Bohemian feast day. The tale was of a peasant girl's attempt to remain true to her lover while her parents, with the help of a mercenary marriage broker, arranged her betrothal to a wealthy landowner's son. Both the cast and the audience enjoyed the dancing, dialogue, and music.

WHAT'S THE POINT? LOTS OF FUN. THAT'S THE RIGHT ANSWER.

A POPULAR PLACE RIGHT STRAIGHT THROUGH THE EVENING.

This was the time to dance and dine, and the conservatory students and their dates made the most of it. After a tenderloin steak dinner, they danced to the music of the Ted Blu Quintet and then headed home saying that the committee had surely planned a wonderful evening.

Jiggerboard

It is the purpose of the Resident Women's Student Government Association, nicknamed "Jiggerboard," to govern the conduct of all women living in the dormitories and resident women living in town. Jiggerboard helps these women to realize their responsibility in upholding the rules and standards of the college. This year the thirteen members served conscientiously under the leadership of President JoAnne Grove.

Although one of the smallest organizations on campus, the Men's Senate, governing body for male resident students, is indispensable. This was especially true during the past college year, as the Senate was under direct student supervision for the first time. The success of this experiment in student government is a milestone in the history of resident life at Lebanon Valley.

Men's Senate

Women's Commuter Council

Seated: T. Hauer, President. Standing: C. Mark, M. Kreider, Secretary-Treasurer. Missing: L. Hostetter, Senior Representative; L. Yorty, Senior Representative. Advisor: Dean C. Dent.

The Women's Commuter Council governs the women day students on campus and each year, through cooperation with the faculty, endeavors to gain more opportunities for them.

Together with Jiggerboard, W.C.C. sponsored a program for the freshmen girls and Gander Weekend. They co-sponsored a movie, and the annual Christmas Dinner and Valentine Dance with the Men's Day Student Congress.

The representation of one of the largest factions on campus is the responsibility of the Congress. These men serve as the governing body of the men commuters. They particularly serve as the intermediary between the Faculty and the day students. Also, the Congress and W.C.C. keep commuters active in campus affairs by sponsoring numerous activities.

Men's Day Student Congress

The Student Faculty Council possesses increasing potential ability as an effective liaison among students, faculty, and administration, and has the important position of coordinator of student activities. Because of the "behind the scenes" nature of the Student Faculty Council, its true role is not generally realized and appreciated. Composed of one representative from each recognized campus organization and of several faculty members, the Council requires everyone's cooperation if it is to achieve its real worth.

Advisor: Mr. A. Fehr.*

The purpose of the Political Science Club is to create greater interest in politics and an atmosphere in which students can realistically face political problems.

One event which stimulated much interest was the Political Rally the club sponsored in October involving issues of the national election. Other activities of the club included banquets, a mock convention and practices in parliamentary procedure. The high spot of the year was again the Intercollegiate Conference on Government held in the Spring.

Green Blotter Club

The literary organization of Lebanon Valley College, Green Blotter Club, provides a free interchange of thoughts and ideas along literary lines and creates an atmosphere for criticizing each other's work. To be chosen as a member of this organization one must submit an original play, essay, poem, short story, novel, or any other manuscript to the club to be voted on by the members.

French Club

CREME?

Under the guidance of Miss Ruth Butler and Dr. George Struble, French Club, whose membership is open to all who enjoy speaking French and studying the French way of life, varied its activities in order to gain a richer experience from the study of French drama, literature, music, and art, and playing of French games. A visit to the Comedie Francaise highlighted the year.

Wig and Buckle

The Wig and Buckle Club, Lebanon Valley's dramatic organization, has grown in many ways during the past two years under the able direction of Mr. James Kline. This year has seen the results of patient planning and hard work. In November the club presented Tennessee Williams' Glass Menagerie. In addition to the dramatic entertainment Wig and Buckle provided for Scholarship Weekend, the organization sponsors several dramatic presentation on Channel 8's College of the Air. Members of the club thus gained valuable experience in acting, directing, staging, lighting, and make-up.

Psychology Club

The increased interest in psychology on the part of the students has brought about the reorganization of this group on campus. This year's Psychology Club was greatly enhanced by guest speakers from neighboring institutions who have had experience in such phases of psychology as criminology, mental health, and hypnotism. The members gained a real insight into the world of psychology from the highly informative discussion that followed the speakers. The club also enjoyed a field trip and a dinner that topped off this successful year.

The Legionnaires

Reorganized a few years ago by the veterans of the United States Armed Forces, the Legionnaires is recognized as one of the most active organizations on the Lebanon Valley campus. One of their main purposes is to assist the veterans in their college careers.

Many worthwhile activities, which contributed much to the organization as well as to the college, were accomplished this past year owing to the enthusiastic cooperation of the members. Again this year during the basketball season, the Legionnaires sponsored dances after the Saturday night home games. The second annual Legionnaires Ball on December 7 was one of the big dances of the year. Their final event of the year was a banquet, for members only.

Promoting a greater interest in the teaching profession is one of the purposes of the George D. Gossard Chapter of the Lebanon Valley College Student Education Association of Pennsylvania. The monthly meetings of this organization, which is an important part of the Education Department, are so designed as to present the members with a knowledge of the practical problems of teaching.

Outstanding events of this past year included the annual S.E.A. Day. Throughout the year, social meetings were also planned, and representatives were sent to various conventions.

Childhood Education Club

The purposes of the Childhood Education Club are to work for the education and well being of children, to raise the standards of preparation and to encourage continued professional growth of prospective teachers and leaders in the field of elementary education.

Guest speakers, movies and panels were used to put across the program this year. The club's happiest activity was holding a Christmas party on campus for the children from the Jonestown Orphanage.

The high standard of this organization is the living of a Christian life dedicated to the work of God and the Church. To realize this purpose, the club provides through the help of various churches in the outlying area, the receiving of practical experience by its members in preaching and teaching. This year the members undertook several trips to orphanages and homes for the aged. A work retreat to the Ortanna Church was one of the features in this year's program. Almost every Sunday members of Delta Tau Chi are projecting their services as servants of Christ.

Chemistry Club

Lebanon Valley's Chapter of the Student Affiliation of the American Chemical Society, better known as "Chem Club", had a very active and successful year.

Several field trips were taken, to Sun Oil, American Viscose, and National Vulcan and Fibre Corporations. The members, who are students majoring in chemistry or those who show an interest in the subject participated in radio programs.

Selling Chemistry handbooks and lab aprons and publishing the bi-monthly "Filtrates and Residues" were included in the activities. They also took part in Science For A Day held on campus. The year ended with a picnic at Mount Gretna.

Delta Lambda Sigma

Delta Lambda Sigma celebrated its thirty-fifth anniversary in November of 1956. Delphian marked this event by acquiring, through the Administration, a permanent club room in the Mary Capp Green Residence Hall.

Also in November, the society held their annual Rush Week concluded on November 16 with the Formal Initiation and the inter-society dance at the Annville Legion. Two regular monthly meetings were marked by the Delphian auction and the Senior Farewell.

Together with Kalo, their brother society, Delphian extended their friendship to the Jonestown Church Home. To open the year's activities, they co-sponsored the movie, "The Caine Mutiny" and a Kalo-Delphian dance. In the spring these societies held one of the biggest social events of the year, K-D Weekend, with a play on Friday night and a dinner-dance Saturday night.

Frequently referred to as "the progressive organization on campus," Kalo, the younger of the two men's societies, serves as a social and as a service organization. The past year was characterized by a new Kalo spirit of initiative and enthusiasm; this was reflected by the great increase in the number and quality of the activities in which the organization engaged. Highlighting Kalo's year were: two fall smokers, co-sponsoring of the "September Song" and The Caine Mutiny, participation in the Inter-Society Dance, a Christmas party for the children of the Jonestown Orphanage, the intramural sports program, including football, volleyball, basketball, and softball, K-D Weekend, including the play and dinner-dance, the stag banquet, and publication of the Red and Gold.

The purpose of Clio is to promote a spirit of friendship and good will among its members. Clio's membership has been steadily increasing in the last several years and the spirit of co-operation between Clio and her brother organization Philo has brought them to a much closer unity.

With the opening of the Mary Capp Green Residence Hall Clio was given a permanent club room.

Beginning the year's activities with Rush Week, Clio sponsored a tea and fashion show. In December the members enjoyed a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Ruth Bender, Clio's advisor. The annual trip to the Lebanon County Old People's Home was greeted with much enthusiasm.

Also significant among the society's activities were the Clio-Philo play and dinner dance in the spring.

The Knights, now in their seventh year of existence, are simultaneously one of the most constructive and perhaps the most secretive social organization on the campus. Noted for the spirit of cooperation, good will, and fellowship which permeates the social nature of the group, the Knights engage in many social activities. In addition to their intramural sports program, including volleyball, basketball, and softball, and the presenting of an academic and an athletic award to two worthy students, the Knights held an annual dinner-dance, as a culmination of their activities.

The Lebanon Valley College football team posted a record of one win and seven losses during the 1956 season under the tutelage of Coach Ellis R. McCracken. The whole L.V. football picture cannot be perceived at one glance, though, as the Dutchmen fought a few valiant battles in vain and were hampered by injuries through a strong schedule which allowed little breathing room.

Wilkes College offered little resistance to the well-balanced Lebanon Valley attack on the night of September 29, as the Dutchmen won their first game in the annual Bologna Bowl by a 39-6 count. The victory was largely due to fine teamwork between seasoned veterans and worthy newcomers. Among the former were co-captains Ross Plasterer and Glen Thomas, Bobby Longenecker, Jim Wolfe, Tom Kunkle, Joe Toy, Joe Stauffer, Nello Lavorini, Paul DiPangrazio, Frank Giovinazzo, Barry Barnhart, and Neil Aharra. Among the freshmen and transfer students rendering commendable service were Dick Smith, Ken Longenecker, Hal Donely, Karl Wesoloski, Irv LeGay, Don Sydlik, and Dom Garda who won the Bologna Bowl award for playing an outstanding game.

Lycorning downed the Valley in the following game by a 19-0 score by completely dominating the game and stalling the locals' best efforts in the clutch.

Lycorning scored three times in the first half and Lebanon Valley stiffened in the second half to play the invaders to a standstill.

Muhlenberg emerged from a 7-7 tie at halftime to defeat the Dutchmen in the fourth quarter on an intercepted lateral pass which went for a touchdown. It was still a moral victory for the Valley as Muhlenberg had entered the game heavy favorites.

Moravian was next to add Lebanon Valley to its victory list as the Greyhounds took advantage of three costly fumbles and proceeded to score at will to win on their own field, 33-2.

Again at St. Vincents in Leechburg, the Dutchmen suffered from a bad first half as the Beareats struck paydirt twice in the first half, only to have the Valley hold the rest of the game. Final score, 13-0.

Albright and Lebanon Valley were picked as nearly equal teams, neither posting an impressive record. The Lions, playing on their own turf, quickly made a rout of the game outscoring the Valley 3-1. Final score, 20-6.

On the combination Homecoming and Parent's Day, the Dutchmen eleven gave the grads and folks absolutely nothing to cheer about as they were completely overrun by a big and strong Drexel team, 32-12. Injuries were very prevalent throughout the season and particularly against the Dragons as only four of the first 13 Valley players to enter the contest were physically able to finish.

To close the season the Dutchmen gave Penn Military College a run for their money, losing 40-25, after the "first half jinx" had cost them the marginal fifteen points.

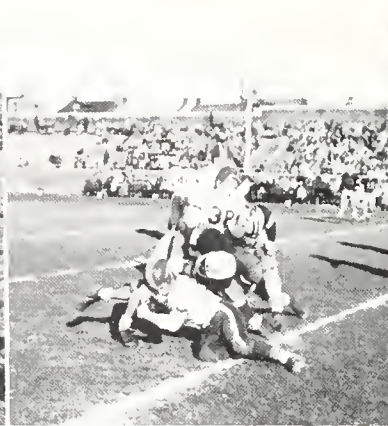

This was the last game for co-captains Ross Plasterer and Glen Thomas and the outstanding quarterback Dominic Garda who received recognition on the Small College All-American Football Team for his play while in the Blue-and-White of Lebanon Valley.

Dick Smith, junior fullback, shows open-field running form as he moves for long yardage behind good blocking against Drexel on Homecoming and Parent's Day.

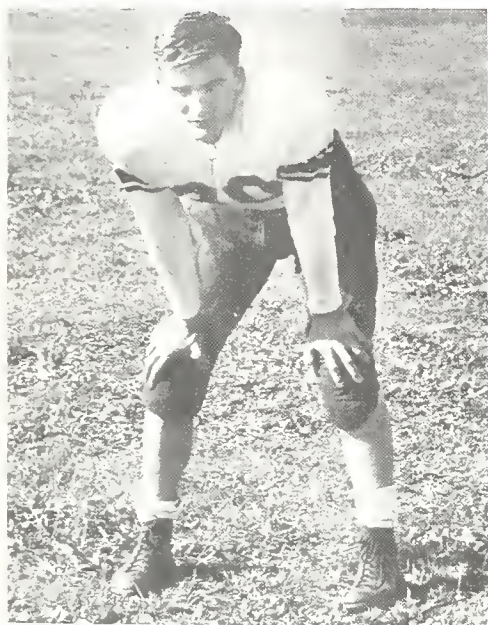

Safety man Chris Chinault saves extra yardage with a low tackle.

Tom Kunkle and Joe Toy collaborate on a side-line tackle.

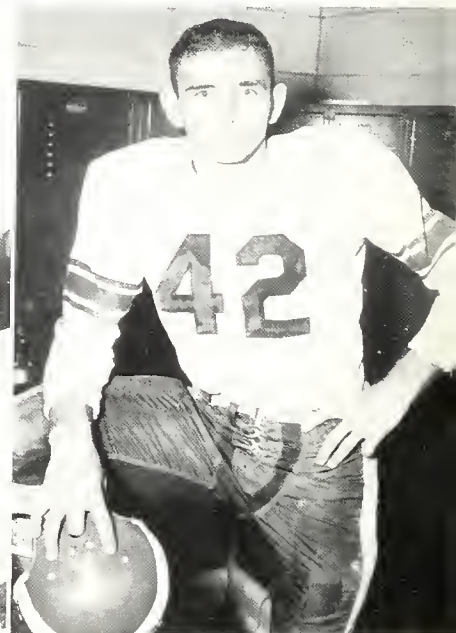

Nello Lavorini scores on a Dom Garda aerial against Drexel.

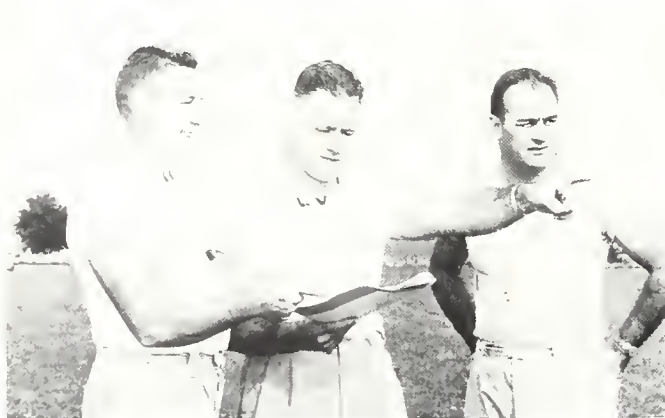

Ross Plasterer, a four year veteran and an outstanding end.

Dom Garda, senior quarterback and Small College All-America selection.

Glen Thomas, durable veteran pass catching end and defensive back.

Coach McCracken (M) reviews strategy with aids, Mayhoffer (L) and Linta (R).

The Lebanon Valley Flying Dutchmen charge through practice scrimmage on athletic field.

Coach Linta launches into halftime pep talk to Dutchmen Lavorini, Longenecker, Toy, Weinel, Cardos, Giovinazzo, LeGay, and Rissmiller during Drexel game.

Bill DeLiberty, sophomore quarterback injured in pre-season practice, observes action in Wilkes rout longingly. A letterman last year, Bill will be ready for action next year.

at Lebanon Valley "All feet off the ground" action

Lebanon Valley's unpredictable Flying Dutchmen, despite the play of four year men Bob Nelson, Don Reinhard, and Captain Dick Shover, closed out its first losing season in six years but, in the course of their 21 game season, battled evenly with some of the top teams in the area.

After a preliminary 79-55 win over the L.V.C. alumni, the Valley's regular season got underway with a thrilling 78-76 win over Scranton University in overtime. Dick Shover with 19 and Don Grider with 17 led the Dutchmen to their 42nd straight home win. A small but aggressive Rider outfit handed L.V.C. its first loss 89-70 despite the 23 points of Bob Nelson.

Lebanon Valley then extended their record to 4-1 with pre-Christmas wins over Millersville, 57-55, on Nelson's last second basket; PMC, 79-67 with Shover pouring in 26 points and Albright in another thrilling home win, 74-68.

The first game after the holidays saw Moravian College take a painfully easy 81-61 victory, bringing to an end Lebanon Valley's fabulous 43 game home winning streak. The Dutchmen then traveled to Lancaster where they absorbed their second straight pounding 82-64 by Franklin and Marshall after leading at the half 42-41.

Elizabethtown built up an early lead and then fought off an L.V.C. rally to win 57-50 and hand the Valley its fourth loss against four wins.

Following an easy 67-56 win over Dickinson the Dutchmen suffered three more losses to Temple, 70-59; West Chester, 73-65; and Drexel by a close 77-74 score. Despite the setbacks, Dick Shover tallied a total of 79 points in the three games and freshman Barry Skaler accounted for 45 against the Philadelphia teams.

The Dutchmen broke their losing streak with an impressive 79-74 win over Wilkes, led by Shover's 30 points, but lost to E-town 79-60 as Skaler canned 21. L.V.C. defeated Dickinson for the second time 73-66 and then threw a scare into Moravian before bowing 68-60.

After a 79-64 loss to Albright, the Valley won their seventh game over Susquehanna by a 75-65 score with Shover hitting for 30. F. & M. and a top-rated Muhlenberg outfit were hard pressed to defeat a stubborn Valley five 56-53 and 77-70 respectively as the season neared its end.

L.V.C.'s final game was an evenly fought battle which Fairleigh-Dickinson won in overtime, 74-73, bringing the Valley's season log to eight wins and thirteen losses. Dick Shover closed out a brilliant season with 29 points followed by Bob Nelson with 26.

BOB KERSTETTER . . . a spirited competitor; tough under the boards—Soph.

LLOYD SMITH . . . a hometown Lebanon product; deadly jump shot—Soph.

BILL DeLIBERTY . . . topnotch dribbler; possesses great scoring ability—Soph.

Freshman Barry Skaler drives past two Scranton players and fires a jump shot . . . The Valley went on to win the game in an overtime.

This action vividly displays the tenseness with which Don Greider, Bob Kerstetter and Don Reinhard attempt to grab off a rebound against the defending Scranton players. This type of aggressiveness paid off in a 78-76 victory.

BARRY SKALER . . . freshman star from Philadelphia; dead set shot.

"Denny" Dinerman displays his driving skill as he goes by a Scranton defender to add two points to the Valley score.

DON REINHARD . . . 4th year on the varsity as a starter; top-rate competitor and rebounder—Senior.

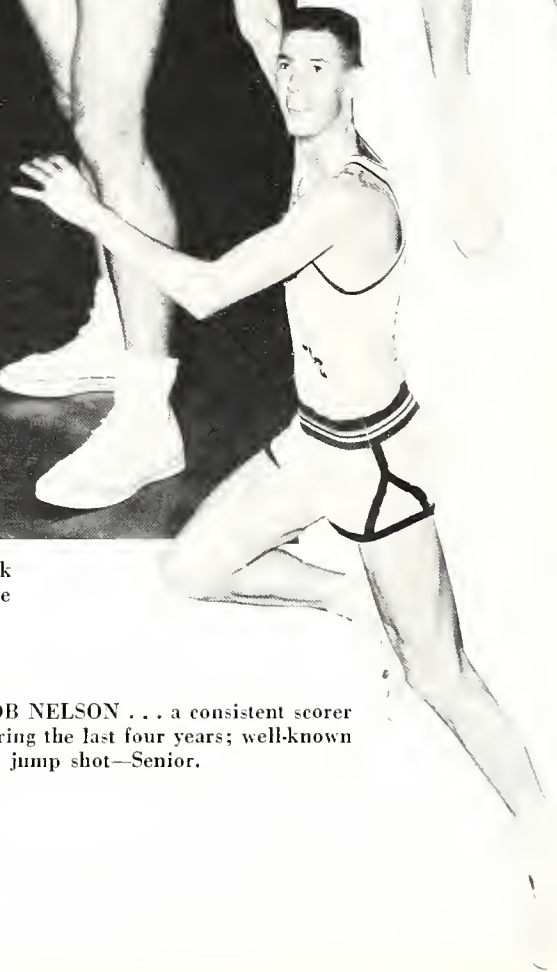

PETE McEVOY . . . backcourt star and floor general with a lot of hustle; good drive shot—Junior.

Coach Marquette and Captain Dick Shover . . . the brains behind the scenes.

BOB NELSON . . . a consistent scorer during the last four years; well-known for jump shot—Senior.

DON GREIDER . . . veteran returnee with initiative and push; good scorer with fearful set shot—Junior.

The "Nels" goes up to dunk one against Muhlenberg... he is a Harrisburg product who has amassed a grand total of 1063 points during his four year career at LVC.

Captain Dick Shover drives around his Albright defender as he scores two of his 1218 points compiled during his four year career.

The "towering trio" of 6'6" Bob Nelson, 6'1" Dick Shover and 6'5" Don Reinhard have been mainstays of the Valley Team for four years.

These three L.V.C. seniors have provided many thrills for Valley followers under the tutelage of George "Rinso" Marquette, who ended his fifth year of coaching at the end of this past season.

Don Reinhard saves a rebound from going out of bounds . . . he is a Pine Grove product who continually amazed fans with his rebounding ability.

The Junior Edition

The Lebanon Valley Junior Varsity basketball team of 1956-57 turned in a respectable performance while compiling a season's log of eight wins and six losses.

This year's squad was lead by Sam Butz, Al Kohler and Marty Mihalek who averaged 17, 16 and 13 points per game respectively. Fundamentally responsible for the season's success was the fiery determination with which our future varsity players entered each game.

The J.V.'s opened the season with a bang as they soundly trounced their first four opponents but in the fifth game of the year they were reversed in a thrilling triple overtime game against F. & M.

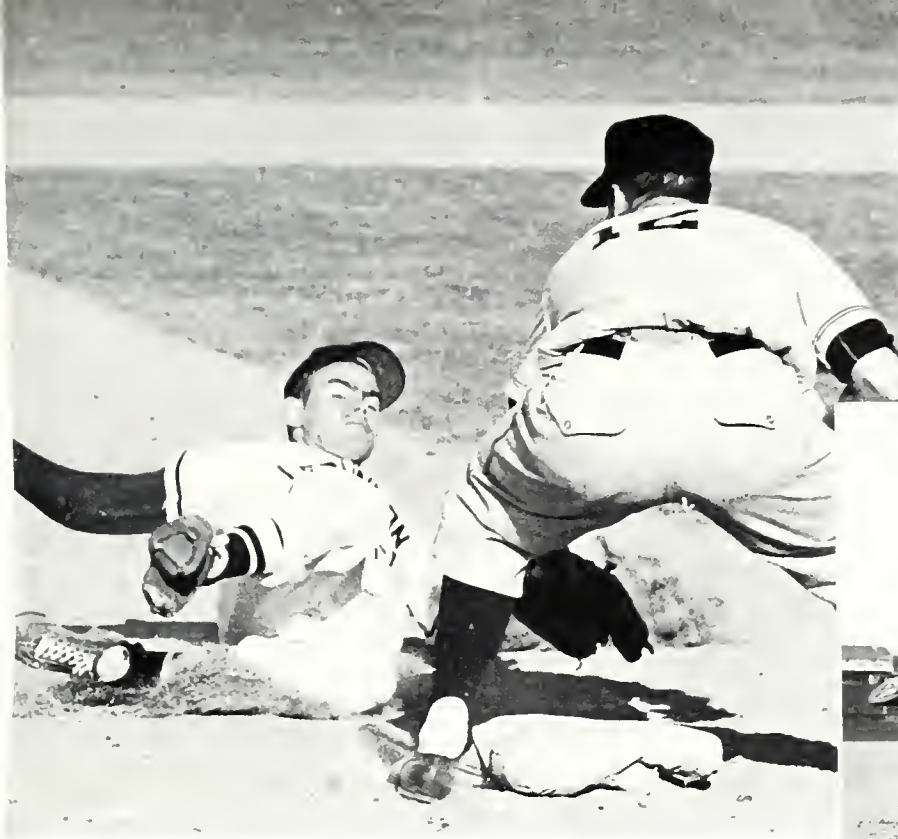

The remainder of the season was highlighted by thrilling victories over E-town, a top-notch Hershey Junior College squad, and an avengeful victory over F. & M. Throughout the season the J.V.'s displayed a basketball savvy that makes varsity prospects for next year seem bright.

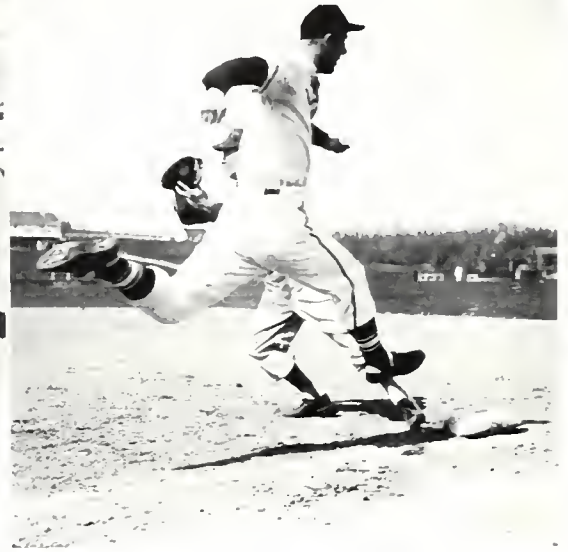

Doug Ross is fouled as he attempts a 15-foot jump shot in the J.V.'s 84-77 victory over F & M. Under the board is Marty Mihalek waiting for the rebound.

In Spring its Baseball

Tom Reinhart advances to third base as Pete McEvoy hits one through the hole into right field. The Millersville third baseman anxiously awaits the belated throw. The Valley won by a 4-3 score.

Larry Bennetch gets thrown out at first base after executing a successful squeeze play in the game against Drexel. The Valley went on to win the game by an 11 to 2 score.

Bill Wenrich who pitched the first no-hit, no-run game in the history of Lebanon Valley baseball. As a reward for his spectacular performance the Athletic Council retired his jersey.

The 1956 Flying Dutchmen baseball squad had a winning season. They compiled a commendable record of ten wins against only five setbacks. Fundamentally responsible for the team's success was co-captain and pitcher Bill Wenrich who finished the season with a remarkable pitching record of seven wins to his credit. Bill did not suffer a defeat throughout the entire season.

Highlights of the season included victories over F. & M. Millersville, Gettysburg, Scranton and Ursinus. The Valley twice defeated E-town and Drexel.

Bill Shadler and Dick Shover led the offensive attack throughout the season along with Glen Thomas, Ross Plasterer and Larry Bennetch who also accounted for much of L.V.C.'s hitting power. Joe Stauffer, Pete McEvoy and Tom Reinhart held down the tough defensive positions. The pitching chores were divided among Wenrich, Bob Nelson and Glenn Thomas.

The outstanding performance of the year was Bill Wenrich's no-hitter on the home diamond against Gettysburg's baseball nine. The Valley won the game as Bill Shadler collected both R.B.I.'s in the 2-0 victory. This no-hitter was the first in baseball history here at L.V.C.

The Lebanon Valley College track team of 1956 experienced a winless season. The Flying Dutchmen competing in the track and field sport for only the second time as a team, was limited in its success because of the inexperience with which our squad had to contend. Although our record was far from impressive we feel that much was learned during this season and the returning veterans feel quite confident that the coming season will reveal a more impressive record. The famous sports-writer Grantland Rice once said:

"When the One Great Scorer comes to mark upon your name; he marks not that you won or lost but how you played the game."

Throughout the season several of our boys displayed fine track and field ability. Aubrey Kershner was a constant point getter in the 100 yard dash and the high hurdles. Eugene Pietreniac and Dale Shaeffer consistently won many honors in the weight divisions. In the distance events Lloyd Smith made himself known by securing many first place credits for L.V.C.

Lebanon Valley competed in six dual meets and one triangular meet.

Hockey

The 1956-57 squad finished the season with a record of three ties and one loss. The team's fighting spirit was encouraged by the tri-captains: Dot Book, Arlene Reynolds, and Jo Young. To their dismay, the season ended with two rain-out cancellations. A total of four points was scored in the four games played. Marion Brooks and Jo Young shared honors with two goals each; Sally Lynch also received one of Miss Bowman's "psychological safety-pins" for her terrific job as goalie.

Congratulations are certainly in order to Miss Bowman, the varsity hockey team, and the managers for so commendable a season.

Minor injuries could not dampen the enthusiasm of the Girls' Basketball Team. The excellent spirit of these "Flying Dutchgirls" reached a high point this year. The team culminated the season with a commendable record of five wins and two losses. All Valleyites are proud of the undefeated record on the home floor.

Following the fine example of Captain Jeanne Winter and under the capable coaching of Miss Bowman, the girls have proved to be a challenge to any opponent. The starting line-up consisted of: Donna Hill, Sally Lynch, and Ruth Howell at forward with Arlene Reynolds, Jeanne Winter, and Peggy Barbour in the guard positions. The fireball freshman, Sally Lynch was high scorer, averaging 18.4 points per game. In the runner-up position was Donna Hill, another freshman, with a 16.1 point average. Many outstanding underclassmen promise continued success.

A word of appreciation is also in order to the girls behind the scenes—the managers: Dot Book, Ruth Sheetz, and Carol Ott.

W.A.A.

"A girl for every sport, and a sport for every girl." With this motto, the Women's Athletic Association under the able leadership of President Jeanne Winter initiated again this year an extensive program of intramural sports. A hike for freshman and Girls'-Boys' sports events were also on the agenda which culminated with the annual spring Sports Banquet. At this time, the presentation of blazers to outstanding seniors and other awards was made.

DOT BOOK is well-known on campus as the ever-faithful La Vie Collegienne editor and as president of Kappa Lambda Nu. In addition, Dot has been active as fullback on the hockey team and as manager for the basketball team.

W.A.A. and the basketball team have had a successful year under the capable leadership of JEANNE WINTER, president and captain respectively. "Miss Athlete" for the Class of 1957 is also an attendant in this year's May Court.

Senior Athletes

Hats off to four senior athletes! In recognition of their contribution to intramural as well as inter-collegiate sports at L.V., these girls were presented with the highest awards of the W.A.A.—blue and white blazers.

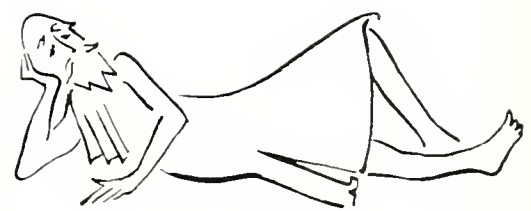

Last year's ping pong leader, ARLENE REYNOLDS has contributed much in promoting W.A.A. activities. Arlene has served as halfback on the hockey field and as guard on the basketball court for four years. Together with Dot Book and Jo Young, Arlene was tri-captain of the hockey team.

JO YOUNG, outstanding as a wing on the hockey team, has played inter-collegiate basketball during her four years at L.V.C. Jo is also well-known in the Conservatory and as choir director for the S.C.A. Choir.

The regular tranquility of the lazy Quittapahilla was violently disturbed on the magnificent, misty, morning of the newly mud-daubed Underclassman Day. The tug lost some of the fervor of other years, but the sure-footed Sophomores won the final tug amidst yells of "Merry Christmas, Frosh!"

In the evening, both classes sponsored a dance at which the enmity of the morning was forgotten.

Religious Emphasis Week

SEEK YOUR MASTER

Annual provision for a week in the school year wherein stress is laid upon religion has come to be a highlight on the college calendar. This year's theme for Religious Emphasis Week was "Seek Your Master." Throughout the week, students' spiritual and personal needs were discussed and acted upon through the outlets of seminars, sceptic hours, lectures, and panel discussions. During this time L.V.C. students examined themselves and also re-examined their faith.

The initial stage of a ten year development program for Lebanon Valley College will come to a successful close on May 18, 1957. On this date three new buildings will be formally dedicated and accepted into the college family, Mary Capp Green Residence Hall, Gossard Memorial Library, and Science Hall.

These buildings, which represent a solution to the current shortage of adequate living and study space, will not only alleviate those conditions, but will serve as levers and tools with which future battalions will attack the walls of the citadel of ignorance.
